

3) We hope we can use our gathering as a time for networking and growing our community. What are you doing in the world? Where do you feel called in the intersection of faith and the environment? and what do you need to help accomplish this?

4) Briefly describe how your faith and environmental interests connect.

5) In what ways do you see yourself fitting into the larger Eco-Stewards community? What gifts/ knowledge/ skills can you offer to our larger community beyond our week together?

Final Point: This year, we are hand-selecting people to apply to this unique Eco-Stewards Special Edition experience - and you are among this esteemed few - congrats! To help make this financially viable, we have secured some generous funding that will reduce your travel costs. In exchange, we expect each applicant to bring something of value to this experience. We would encourage you to consider in advance what this commitment might look like. If you are comfortable, please consider circling/ highlighting any or all that may apply (knowing they may change based on your time in Hawaii with us):

- Are you able to primarily contribute by being an active/ engaged participant in Hawaii?
- In addition to being an active/ engaged participant with us in Hawaii, might you be able to contribute to our program beyond Hawaii through:
 - helping us recruit future Eco-Stewards
 - helping host a future program
 - joining our leadership team
 - becoming an official Eco-Stewards Networker
 - contributing financially to the future of our program
 - other: _____

The Eco-Stewards Program is a grassroots community that shapes young adult leaders through place-based experiences that connect faith and the environment.
